

Fun with Futsal in Indonesia

One of the venues we installed recently is called Foot & Food. It does really combine 2 really important elements in most men's life. Good food and football. Many would argue that's all that is required to be perfectly content. The "Futsal" venue has an integrated food court with delicious local fare. So, while playing a friendly game of "football", supporters can enjoy great Nasi Goreng (Fried Rice) or Soto Ayam (savoury chicken soup) etc. After running their hearts out for an hour, the players can then stock up on some much needed calories.

Another very nice venue is The Balls on the tropical Paradise of Bali. Bali is truly heaven on earth, proven by the fact that many tourists from every corner of the world flock to the island to enjoy its hospitality, great weather, delicious food, sandy beaches and now great "Futsal" venues with DOMO Sports Grass. My very conscientious partners take it upon themselves to go and inspect all installations personally which often is not a very comfortable job since it calls for them to face hours of traffic, hot and sticky weather conditions in not yet ventilated venues etc. For The Balls in Bali venue however, I believe everyone was strenuously insisting it was their job to go and check the job site.

The third venue we want to introduce here is the recently installed MOI Futsal. This venue advertises MOI Resto (Waffles, Pancakes), MOI Futsal and MOI Reflexology all in site. This is a great concept. Here you go and eat their delicious food without having to feel guilty because you can work off the calories in a game of Futsal. Then, when sated and exhausted there is nothing better than going in for some heavenly Foot Reflexology (massage).

DOMO Sports Grass would really like to thank our partners in Indonesia for helping us enjoy our work so much.
